Mercer Observance Will Be Held Friday

Allen Dulles Heads List of Noted Guests Expected At Law Day Here

Arrival schedules of notable speakers for the Walter F. George School of Law's eighth annual Law Day at Mercer University were announced yesterday as final arrangements were made for the observance Friday.

Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, keynote speaker, will arrive here about 10:30 a.m. Friday with Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of Atlanta, U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

Dean F. Hodge O'Neal of the law school said E. Smythe Gambrell, president of the American Bar Association, who will give one of the principal addresses, will arrive at 9 a.m. from Atlanta.

Sen. Walter F. George, for whom the school is named, will attend, as will prominent jurists and public leaders from various states, O'Neal said.

In addition to Judge Tuttle, the federal judiciary will be represented by Judges T. Hoyt Davis and W. A. Bootle of the U. S. District Court for the Middle District of Georgia.

From the state appellate courts will come Justices Bond Almand, T. S. Candler, Carlton Mobley and Lee B. Wyatt and Justices Emeritus R. C. Bell and C. W. Worrill, all of the Supreme Court of Georgia, and Presiding Judge B. C. Gardner and Judge Joseph B. Quillian of the Georgia Court of Appeals.

O'Neal said other noted jurists to attend will include Judge A. M. Anderson of Perry, Judge George R. Lilly of Quitman, Judge Sam F. Lowe Jr. of the Civil Court of Fulton County, Judge Luke Arnold of Atlanta and Ordinary C. H. Hollingsworth Jr. of Rome.

The Georgia Bar Association will be represented by its president, Henry L. Bowden of Atlanta and by a number of past presidents, including Charles J. Bloch, Hatton Lovejoy, A. Edward Smith, Robert B. Troutman, and William C. Turpin.

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook and Frank H. Edwards, head of the state's bill drafting unit, will represent the Georgia Law Department.

Other prominent Georgians will include C. Baxter Jones, Georgia delegate to the American Bar Association; J. Alton Hosch, dean of the University of Georgia's Law School, and Charles J. Hilkey, dean emeritus of Emory University Law School.

A number of out-of-state visitors also will attend, O'Neal said. More than 1,000 persons are expected.
